

I do not believe it is the public interest to have ownership of TV, radio and newspapers owned by the same company or conglomerate in the same market. The widest possible dissemination of information from diverse and opposing sources is essential to the welfare of the people.